So what's it all about?

Our non-surgical Ultrasonic Liposuction makes losing inches from areas of your body such as your belly, hips, arms, legs and back easy! Those stubborn fatty areas of your body you would like to change will become flatter and firmer, in as few as 12 sessions of completely painless Ultrasonic Liposuction. You will be massaged, twice a week with ultrasound by our qualified, experienced consultants, ensuring you are looking and feeling fabulous!

We use Ultrasound technology similar to the kind used to carry out baby scans in hospitals, we even use the same gel. During the painless therapy all you will feel is a nice, warm sensation. This warm sensation is the fat turning to liquid and beginning to drain from your body.

As the Ultrasound passes through the fat cells inside your body it causes them to vibrate against each other, this causes the fat inside to change from a semi-solid state and to become a liquid. Once liquefied, the fat will begin to drain from the cell. The fat then passes through the lymph node system and exits the body through the digestive system in the normal manner. The fat will continue to drain from the body for the next 72 hours. To maximise lymph drainage and achieve the best results we recommend increasing activity levels to increase blood circulation.

Your consultant will chart your success and let you know exactly how many inches you have lost since your last session by measuring your target area before each treatment. We expect clients will need somewhere between 8 – 12 sessions per area to achieve their goals. You should allow 30 minutes per appointment and 3 days should be allowed between treatments.

Rare Bond car photos revealed

THIS is a never-before-seen photograph of one of the original Aston Martin 'James Bond' DB5s produced at Newport Pagnell. This particular DB5 was used as a show car to promote Goldfinger, which was the first James Bond film to feature the famous motor. It is being driven here by engine designer Arthur Wilson, who still lives in the town. He worked at the Tickford Street site from 1959, and now he wants to set up a reunion of people who worked on the iconic car which has reappeared in the latest Bond movie Skyfall. If you would like to get involved in the reunion call 01908 374193 or e-mail djbatt@talktalk.net. To see a gallery of photos of the original DB5s, go to www.mk-news.co.uk.

Tree disease sparks fears for woodland

CONCERNS have been expressed over the future of the city's ash trees after 100,000 have been destroyed nationally to prevent the spread of a deadly fungus.

There are several hundred thousand ash trees in the city and The Parks Trust – the charity which looks after them – said it is 'very saddened and concerned' about the threat ash dieback disease poses.

Rob Rieke, Head of Operations at The Parks Trust, said: "This problem has been known about in Europe for a few years now so I think imports could have been stopped sooner."

"A few years ago we took a delivery of ash trees which unbeknownst to us at the time were grown in Europe, but they have been inspected by The Food and Environment Research Agency and given the all clear."

"In the newest areas of woodland planted in the seventies and eighties there is a good mix of tree species which should protect wildlife but it's our older woodlands such as Linford, Shenley and Howe Park Wood that are of particular concern to us because of their high number of ash trees."

Landscape officers are aware of the signs of the disease and will be looking for these when they carry out their regular inspections of parkland in the city.

As a precaution The Parks Trust have also suspended the planting of any ash trees for this coming season.

The devastating disease is caused by a fungus called Chalara fraxinea which causes leaf loss and crown dieback and can lead to the death of an ash tree.

Ash dieback disease was first spotted in the UK in February, at a nursery in Buckinghamshire but recently it has been found in planted sites and last week officials confirmed it had been found in the wider countryside in East Anglia.

Halloween hanging victim saved by pal

BY ADAM GRINSELL
adam.grinsell@mk-news.co.uk

A FORMER army medic has revealed how he fought to save the life of a friend who had hung himself in a Halloween accident.

The drama began when 25-year-old victim Richard Parry put his head through a noose that was being used as a photographic prop at Pink Punters nightclub in Fenny Stratford. He is then believed to have fainted.

At first no-one noticed he was in trouble because he was wearing a Halloween mask that was hiding his face. When staff at the club realised he was in difficulty, they took him out of the noose to find him unconscious and suffering from hypoxia – he was not getting enough oxygen.

But luckily close friend Scott Chennells, a former medic with the Royal Army Medical Corps and who was in fancy dress as a doctor on the night, was on hand to take charge.

He said: "I saw that his throat and tongue were swollen, so I cleared his airway, and checked his breathing – he was really struggling for breath."

"I kept trying to clear his airways, and kept trying to get motor responses by getting him to squeeze my hand, but there was just no response."

When the ambulance arrived Scott, who is 25 and from Leighton Buzzard, handed over to the medical team.

It is unknown how Richard, who is now out of hospital, got into difficulty, as Scott did not see the accident and the club's owners said the prop had been given the thumbs up by health and safety officers.

"I can only think he fainted when he put his head into the noose. I've told him he owes me a beer!" added Scott.

Club spokesman Joe McMahon said: "It was a freak accident. The noose has been used by thousands of people without so much as a scratch or splinter."

Pushy Salesmen? Not With Cloudy2Clear!

Cloudy2Clear Windows, the Milton Keynes based window repair company, are revolutionising how homeowners view double glazing in our area. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as customers take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Billy Harley, is convinced that much of his success is down to the fact that he employs tradesmen, not salesmen. 'If you think about it, who wants to deal with the dreaded double glazing salesman? The thought of going through the whole tedious process of haggling with someone who arrives at 7 at night and then camps themselves in your house until midnight is not one most people find attractive. A lot of our customers are elderly and can feel very pressurised by sales tactics. We set out from day one to be very different.'

Billy makes very sure his customers are looked after right from the first time Cloudy2Clear arrive at the house. 'All our staff arrive in uniforms so the customer knows who they are and I insist that they wear plastic overshoes to protect the customers carpets. We then measure the windows that have a problem and price the job up there and then, which usually takes around 15 minutes. If the customer wants the job doing we'll arrange installation but if they want to call us back later that's fine. What I don't want to hear from any of my customers is that they felt pushed into anything. It's just not our style.

We're trying to give the glazing industry a reputable face and the evidence of my order book tells me my customers like our approach.

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Billy a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be more than happy to help!

IMAX announcement creates a 'reel' buzz

BY ANNA MAUREMOTOOTOO

anna.mauremootoo@mk-news.co.uk

THERE was a buzz of excitement in the city when IMAX confirmed they would be coming to stadiummk – but the announcement has brought the future of the cinema at The Point into question.

In July MK NEWS revealed plans for a cinema complex at stadiummk and last week IMAX confirmed that they would be opening a screen as part of the ODEON and UCI Cinemas Group's 11-screen multiplex which is due open in 2014.

Pete Winkelman, chairman of Inter MK and MK Dons, said: "This fantastic news will strengthen the offer at stadiummk and together with the hotel, and MK1 Shopping Park it will create a regional entertainment destination and encourage a new audience to visit the MK1 site."

The development will also include eight restaurants, one of which is believed to be Italian-American diner Frankie and Benny's.

Andrew Cripps, President of the IMAX, added: "This announcement not only underscores the growth opportunities that exist in the region but it's also an endorsement of the confidence exhibitors have in IMAX to deliver audiences a differentiated experience and drive incremental revenue to their multiplexes."

ODEON currently operate the screens at The Point – the home of the UK's first multiplex cinema – but they were unable to confirm that they would stay at the iconic red pyramid once the new venue is open.

A spokesman said: "ODEON are currently unable to confirm the plans for the existing ODEON cinema in Milton Keynes."

Argos store closures confirmed

THE city-based company that owns retailer Argos has announced it will be closing or relocating 75 of its stores across the country.

Home Retail Group (HRG), which has its head office on Avebury Boulevard in CMK, made the announcement last week as it prepares to move to a more digital-led business model.

That will also mean the store's famous catalogues will begin to be phased out.

The 75 stores will close or move as the leases run out on the properties over the next five years.

HRG also revealed its sales and profits are down for the 26 weeks to September 1.

Police became aware of the event shortly before 1pm and gave those attending until 3pm to leave the area.

Gardening team meets the Queen

'Chuffed': Staff from Frosts meet the Queen at the opening of the Jubilee Gardens on London's South Bank

BY ADAM GRINSELL

adam.grinsell@mk-news.co.uk

A GARDENING firm has been given the royal seal of approval after the Queen officially opened one of their projects.

City-based Frosts Landscape Construction Ltd created a new high-profile green space in London for this year's Diamond Jubilee.

Called the Jubilee Gardens, the space is located on the South Bank next to the London Eye and was completed in May – just in time for the Jubilee celebrations. That was after Mayor of London Boris Johnson marked the start of the project with an official groundbreaking ceremony earlier in the year.

Then on Thursday members of the landscaping team met Her Majesty as she officially opened the garden.

Ken White, managing director at the firm, Frosts Landscape Construction Ltd, said: "It has been an honour and a privilege for Frosts to have been tasked with the re-development of the Jubilee Gardens, which our group won after a long bidding process.

"With all eyes on London in this iconic year, we knew that we had to create something very special and we are extremely pleased with the end result."

The Queen was also presented with a posy created by the company's florist arm, which is based in Woburn Sands.

James Frost, chairman of the company, said the award of the contract came as a pleasant surprise, but is a big boost for the company.

"We were up against six national names from the construction industry – it was a case of David and Goliath I think," he said.

"There was a lot of pressure as it was probably the most high profile scheme that we've worked on, and in quite a visible part of London.

"To have the Queen open it was fantastic, particularly for those guys who were involved in the work itself. They were absolutely chuffed to bits to meet her."

Planned waste facility will create 245 jobs

A NEW state-of-the-art waste treatment facility, which will reduce landfill use by 95 per cent, is to be built.

Yesterday Milton Keynes Council announced AmeyCespa will be designing, building and operating the facility, called Milton Keynes Waste Recovery Park, which is planned for a site at Old Wolverton.

The facility, which will deal with household black sack waste and some commercial waste, will create 245 jobs in its construction and operation.

The council says it will save more than £50million in waste management over the life of the building.

H&M confirms store opening

CLOTHING retailer H&M has announced its store at the new MK1 development at stadiummk will be opening next month.

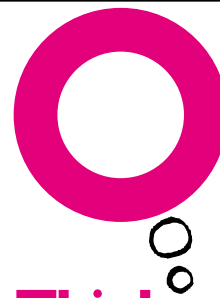

It is set to open on Thursday, November 29 at 11am.

Carlos Duarte, H&M's country manager for the UK and Ireland, said: "H&M is continuing to expand in the UK this autumn and are pleased to confirm the Milton Keynes shopping park is one of our new locations.

"It's a great shopping destination and we hope that H&M's business concept of fashion and quality at the best price will be well received there."

Around 20 new jobs, both full and part time, will be created.

Why should I vote in the police elections?

SIR – I received the pamphlet about the Police Commissionaire elections next month. The first vote I was old enough to participate in was the referendum on joining the (then) Common Market, when I was 18. I've voted in every election since. This election, however, may well be the first where I won't vote.

The Thames Valley Police area is one of the largest in the country. What concerns have people voting in places like Reading, Oxford, the Chalfonts and Beaconsfield, in common with mine? Very little, I suspect! The region is far too disparate to be lumped together under one person, who, coming from one particular place, has no idea of the problems from somewhere many miles away.

Can someone give me a good reason to change my mind?

£10k isn't enough to create a night market

SIR – It has been reported that Bletchley and Fenny Stratford Town Council is to receive £10,000 for creating a night market.

The amount given to the council is too small to carry out any project for that amount.

Several small units are vacant because of high rent and rates.

The council should make sure that small businesses stay in Bletchley. Since small businesses find it difficult to survive during day time, what is the point in having a night market which is a daft idea and some of the shops in any case are open late at night.

People from outside come to central Bletchley mainly to the post office, to the library and for shopping in some specialised shops catering for ethnic minority communities. The library car park is in a bad shape and it needs to be resurfaced.

After 6pm the town centre is dead and the place is too dark, it is not safe for late night shoppers.

There is always a small number of younger people gathering near the bandstand late at night.

The town council should encourage supermarkets and up market English, Italian and Asian restaurants to move to Queensway in order to attract people from outside the area. Here also the question of parking in safe places is a serious problem at night.

Some of the members of the Bletchley and Fenny Stratford Town council do not live in this area and they are more interested in discussing the issues outside the town council area rather than discuss issues relevant to the question of regeneration of Queensway.

It is interesting to note that two councillors resigned very recently.

Tories had no problem with Labour spending

SIR – I write concerning John Baker's comments (MK Letters, October 24), in response to mine (MK Letters, October 17) regarding Labour's record in Government.

He fails to mention, or recognise, the overwhelming reason for high deficits in the UK and elsewhere in the world.

That of course was the greatest global crisis for 80 years.

All three main political parties recognise the need to reduce the resulting high deficits.

However there are differences about means and speed.

Specifically on Mr Baker's unsubstantiated comments concerning spending during the decade before the banking crisis, it is worth recalling that on the eve of the Northern Rock crash, George Osborne, who was at the time Shadow Chancellor, announced: "Today I can confirm for the first time that a Conservative government will adopt these spending totals".

In other words he was referring to Labour's spending plans.

Clearly, at the time, pre-crisis, Mr Osborne and the Conservative Party had no problems with the level of Labour's spending.

More than that, they went ahead and effectively endorsed Labour's spending plans.

They're bloody huge! 3D has nothing on the scale of a true IMAX screen. As long as it is true IMAX and not fake IMAX.

His column written exclusively for MK NEWS

Why Neil Sedaka is quite simply a legend

OCCASIONALLY I'll venture out of Milton Keynes – but only for good reason.

Last weekend I treated my partner to a weekend away in Bournemouth, and as a special treat for her, two tickets to see Neil Sedaka in concert.

In reality, I knew she wasn't keen on the Solitaire singer at all, but he has always been on my list of legends to see live in concert!

As we took our seats in the stalls at the Bournemouth International Centre, it was clear we were the youngest there, with the average punter in their seventies. If things kicked off, I wouldn't have too much to worry about!

The show opened with a video montage of various artistes singing the songs of Sedaka, and with a career spanning some 60 years, it must have been a tough job picking the highlights. And then the man himself casually walked on stage. Standing just a couple of feet tall, Neil sat at his Baby Grand Piano and sang Breaking Up Is Hard To Do to a standing (well, those that could) ovation.

No backing band. No orchestra. Just Neil at the piano, explaining the story behind each song as he played them, performing his greatest hits with such passion and emotion, it was as if he'd written them yesterday.

Two hours later, and my other half was on her feet dancing.

I've been lucky enough to see the likes of Frank Sinatra, Paul McCartney, Neil Diamond and Billy Joel live, and now I've seen Sedaka perform Laughter In The Rain to add to my list of legends in concert.

Good Samaritan gives child hope

Fresh hope: Haleema and her mum Anisa with the damage and mess left behind by rogue builders. Now a Good Samaritan has come forward to help create the bedroom Haleema dreamt about

anna.mauremootoo@mk-news.co.uk

A GOOD Samaritan has offered to help seven-year-old cancer victim Haleema Rafique after her dreams of having a 'princess' bedroom were shattered by rogue builders.

As reported by MK NEWS last week, Elite Building Services, of Cheverells Close, St Albans, vanished with thousands of pounds of mum Anisa Rafique's money after she hired them to build a two-storey extension at her home in Shenley Brook End.

The work, which was left unfinished, included a new bedroom for her daughter Haleema who is slowly losing her eyesight due to a genetic disorder called Neurofibromatosis.

But all hope is not lost – after reading the article a Good Samaritan contacted MK NEWS to offer a helping hand.

Leejay Page, owner of LJ Property Services based in Milton Keynes, said: "I saw the story in the paper and I knew I could help, so I wanted to be a Good Samaritan and help Haleema get her bedroom before she loses her sight."

"I posted the story on Facebook and so many people in the trade have offered their help. I know there are some good people out there but I've been shocked about just how many came forward."

Mr Page is currently in talks with building supplies companies to organise donations.

He said: "If anyone else who has experienced issues with the Elite building services could come forward it would really help us to get donations from building companies."

Mrs Rafique added: "Before I got in contact with MK NEWS I felt like I had no hope. But after I told Haleema the news she had a huge smile so I'd like to say thanks for giving us a light at the end of the tunnel."

"I'd like to say thanks very much to Mr Page for everything he is doing to help."

12 months for burglar caught by neighbours

A MAN has been sentenced to 12 months in prison after pleading guilty to burglary in Broughton.

Shoukat Hussain, 40, of Braybrooke Drive, Furzton, appeared at Aylesbury Crown Court last Monday.

At about 11pm on June 21 this year, residents of Swanwick Lane heard a noise outside and went to investigate.

They saw Hussain at a neighbour's house, trying to force open the patio door. Hussain told them his friend lived in the house, closed the door and walked away.

The suspicious neighbours then followed Hussain and also called the police.

Initiative could boost growth

MILTON Keynes has been invited to enter negotiations with the Government to explore options for a 'City Deal' which would incorporate innovative approaches to creating jobs and boosting the city's economy.

The City Deals initiative sees central and local government working together to reach deals which will help create jobs, support local businesses, control budgets and improve the infrastructure.

Council Leader Andrew Geary said: "Once again Milton Keynes has been rightly recognised as an economic powerhouse."

"I very much welcome this opportunity."

007 for police charity event

THE drinks will be shaken not stirred in a special James Bond-style police charity event.

Milton Keynes local police area is holding a 007-themed champagne reception and dinner on Saturday, November 10, in aid of Willen Hospice and the city's Food Bank, as well as the Children's Disney ward at Northampton General Hospital.

The evening will also include a raffle and charity auction.

And the hunt is now on for businesses to sponsor the event, which will see 160 guests come together at Highgate House in Creton, Northamptonshire.

Local Police Area Commander Superintendent Barry Halliday said: "We would love businesses to donate prizes and help the event make as much money as possible for these local charities. It looks set to be a fabulous evening."

Reservations for tables of ten and individual tickets are available for £40 per person, from charityball@thamesvalley.pnn.police.uk or Kelly Gardner on 07779 586344, or Wendy Fellows on 07973 387414.

100 jobs created at drinks factory

BY ADAM GRINSELL

adam.grinsell@mk-news.co.uk

CONSTRUCTION has begun on a £41million warehouse and production facility for Scottish soft drinks company AG Barr.

The maker of Irn Bru, Tizer and Rubicon is building the 265,000-square foot complex at Magna Park, near Wavendon, which is also the current location for John Lewis and River Island warehouses.

The development, which is one of only three production facilities currently under construction in the UK, will create around 100 local jobs and will fill, pack and store cans ready for distribution across the south east.

And the company has future plans for expansion, with room for an extra 31,000-square feet available.

Andrew Memmott, AG Barr's operations director, said: "We've got confidence in our business model and forward plans."

"We have confidence that we are willing to make the investment for our future expansion plans to be met."

He said that one of the draw factors that brought AG Barr to Milton Keynes, as well as its infrastructure, location and transport links, was the calibre of people they could expect to employ.

"The view is that we will have a greater technical calibre of personnel from the industries already here."

During the first phase of production, before the plant is fully operational, 96,000 cans will be produced an hour – that's 27 a second, and more than 4million every year.

By the time the second phase is up and running it will produce another 2million every year.

The construction is expected to be finished in February, with the production facility fully operational by May next year.

For a picture gallery of the construction site, see www.mk-news.co.uk.

The second is around 20, slim, with a muscular jaw and dirty blond hair. He was wearing a dark hooded top with the hood up, and dark tracksuit bottoms. The third was wearing a dark hooded top with the hood up, and dark coloured bottoms.

Anyone who witnessed the offence, recognises the descriptions or who saw the offenders in the area around the time of the incident should call DC Wendy Cissell on 101.

Arts patron Edna dies in car crash

Tributes: Edna Read, a founding member of the Public Arts Trust who died in a car crash

BY ANNA MAUREMOOTOO
anna.mauremootoo@mk-news.co.uk

TRIBUTES have poured in for public arts champion Edna Read, who died last week in a car accident. She was 86.

The crash happened on Wednesday when a red Seat Ibiza was in a collision with a Renault Laguna on the H9 at the junction of Old Grove Way, Simpson.

A woman suffered serious injuries and was taken to Milton Keynes hospital where she later died.

Although the victim has not been officially identified, friends and colleagues in the art world have confirmed it was Edna, who lived in Tinkers Bridge and was a founding member of the Public Arts Trust in Milton Keynes.

Edna organised many art and sculpture exhibitions, including a display of Tai Chi sculpture in Campbell Park. Edna discussed the park with CMK Town Councillor Ken Baker the day before the accident.

He said: "Edna was passionate about art and sculpture, sometimes to the annoyance of some people but she just felt so strongly about it that she didn't give up. That's what was wonderful about her.

"Hopefully something comes out of this for sculpture in Milton Keynes because she was always saying to me that this is a city of sculpture."

Ian Michie, chairman of the Public Arts Trust, said: "Edna's death is a massive loss although we have her legacy in a wonderful collection of public art.

"It is Edna's passion about art in Milton Keynes that must be remembered. She was one of a kind and will be greatly missed."

Linda Inoki, founder of Xplain of which Edna was a member, said: "Edna was a passionate champion of Milton Keynes, introducing its inspiring landscape and urban design to a wider world. She leaves behind a legacy that will not fade."

White man posed as Asian in £9.9k fraud

BY ADAM GRINSELL

adam.grinsell@mk-news.co.uk

A WHITE man with a strong Scottish accent swindled a bank out of almost £10,000 by posing as an Asian businessman.

Jobless Donald Lindsay, 40, from Milton Keynes, went into the bank in the Devon town of Ottery St Mary with an unknown woman claiming to be Bradford-based entrepreneur Ali Qumran.

He cashed two cheques for a total of £9,900 after telling staff he was buying poultry-raising equipment from a local farm.

He had a driving licence with photo ID in Mr Qumran's name and staff handed over the money because his signature matched that on the document, Exeter Crown Court was told on Thursday, October 18.

The real Mr Qumran contacted police as soon as he spotted the money leaving his 'business' account and Lindsay was traced after police studied CCTV.

Lindsay, whose address was listed as HMP Lewes, admitted fraud, asked for two similar cases to be considered and was jailed for four months by Recorder Mr

John Williams.

He told him: "I am rather sceptical about your plans to keep away from crime in the future and I hope you don't come back before me or you can expect a far more decent sentence."

Mr Ben Burge, defending, said Lindsay had been staying with his daughter in Milton Keynes when a man in a pub recruited him to the scheme and he agreed to take part because 'he was in a vulnerable place at the time'. Mr Burge said someone else had organised the false identification and the trip to Devon.

Beat bobby lands award as top cop

adam.grinsell@mk-news.co.uk

A BEAT cop from Milton Keynes has been named Community Police Officer of the Year after almost wiping out antisocial behaviour from the area that he patrols.

PC Jim Lake works in the Lloyds Court area of Central Milton Keynes, and in February opened a permanent community support office on North Tenth Street.

Since then he says crime has reduced massively and antisocial behaviour is now almost non-existent, and those few remaining problems are 'being dealt with'.

"I think it's down to having presence here," he said. "And there's a sense of community that's developed here now."

"I know everyone around here now. Before everyone was strangers and now they know each other – so much so they've set up working groups to help clean the streets."

He has also been involved in a number of initiatives, such as setting up monthly residents' meetings for them to raise their concerns, and fought for a £58,000 play park to be constructed.

Bobby on the beat: PC Jim Lake, CMK's neighbourhood officer

Work is due to start on that next month.

So for all his hard work he has now been recognised by Thames Valley Police, not only as Buckinghamshire Community Police Officer of the Year, but also the overall winner for the Thames Valley area.

He said: "I was aware that some of the residents had got together and nominated me and some of my colleagues."

"I'm pleased to win it, but at the same time I just do my job."

"There's nothing like serving your public."

"I've worked in organisations where the public are an inconvenience, but in the police force you are the public."

"It's all about working together. I couldn't have done all this without my public."

He also wanted to thank Milton Keynes Council neighbourhood warden Rob Harriman, and residents association chairman Rob Stones, who he says 'work tirelessly' for the community.

Speed fears over plan for 'city street'

BY ANNA MAUREMOOTOO

anna.mauremootoo@mk-news.co.uk

BUILDING another 'city street' would be repeating past mistakes according to the council leader.

Andrew Geary expressed his objections to a city street, named Hayton Way, in Tattenhoe Park during a Milton Keynes Partnership Planning Sub Committee meeting last Wednesday.

The proposed road would have houses facing onto it and although there would be a 30mph limit, many fear that drivers would treat it as an extension of an existing grid road.

Cllr Geary said: "We have got a complete and unmitigated disaster at the other end of the H7 and we're recreating that with this application.

"I will not be part of any decision that does that because I simply cannot repeat the mistakes that we made in the past when they are staring us in the face."

Hayton Way was identified to be a city street under the outline planning permission for Tattenhoe Park in 2007 and was approved by the now disbanded Milton Keynes Partnership.

Councillor John Hawthorn said: "People are going to treat it as a grid road. Countess Way has been nicknamed MK Santa Pod, I gather that's drag racing."

Despite concerns raised at the meeting, the architects working on the Tattenhoe Park development said that changing the design is not feasible.

Graham Caswell, of IDP Midlands Architects, said: "To change Hayton Way to a grid road would be far too fundamental in its overall impact."

The application has now been delegated to the Head of Strategic Policy and Planning for approval.

Fashion: Clare Rayner took part in the Breast Cancer Care show in London

Mum Clare does turn on catwalk

A MUM with breast cancer has become a model as well as a pin-up girl after helping to raise more than £400,000 in a special fashion show.

Clare Rayner, 37, from Furzton, was one of 24 men and women affected by breast cancer who conquered the catwalk in front of a star-studded audience at Breast Cancer Care's glittering London fashion show earlier this month.

That's after she became the face of a UK-wide poster campaign to raise awareness of the disease in 2010.

The fashion show took place at the Grosvenor House hotel on Park Lane.

Joe on fast track to fame

BY DAN PALMER

dan.palmer@mk-news.co.uk

A YOUNG racer who was spotted by a Formula One driver has been given a huge boost as he dreams of motorsport stardom.

Eleven-year-old Milton Keynes prospect Joe Turney is now listed on Cranfield University's Associate Drivers scheme, which supports up and coming talent as they bid for driving glory.

Joe was spotted by ex-F1 star Anthony Davidson while karting at the Daytona Milton Keynes track in 2011.

The former Minardi and Super Aguri driver immediately noticed Joe's natural talent and ability and said at the time that he was "one to watch for the future."

Joe took his Association of Racing Karts Schools (ARKS) later in the year with Protrain Racing, during which he managed to impress Gary Chapman, a former UK, European and World karting Championship driver who then signed the youngster for his racing team.

He already has a number of karting trophies in his cabinet despite racing against those who are much older.

Joe's mum Siobhan said: "Anthony came to find Joe and told him that he thought he was something special, he commented on how good he looked, his driving lines, braking, fluidity and speed.

"He asked me what plans I had for Joe which rather took me by surprise, I knew Joe was good but was he that good?"

"He will be learning all the time and excitingly for him he will be living his dream."

By gaining a spot on Cranfield's scheme, Joe will be able to tap into the knowledge of postgraduate students who are enrolled on the university's MSc Motorsport Engineering and Management course.

In addition, he will be able to access state-of-the-art motorsport facilities.

The university has often involved itself in the world of motorsport.

Clive Temple, Programme Director for the MSc Motorsport Engineering and Management, said: "We are delighted to be supporting Joe in what promises to be a great career in motorsport."

"At Cranfield, we are graduating some of the country's top motorsport engineers and managers."

"The Associate Driver programme offers both the Cranfield drivers a platform for their skills and an opportunity for our students to support some potential champions."

Need for speed: Eleven-year-old driver Joe Turney is one to watch in the world of motorsport

Leisure centre for the people

COMMUNITY and voluntary groups in Milton Keynes are being invited to find out more about a process to transfer a leisure centre to local management.

An engagement and information meeting will be held at 6pm on November 1 at Woughton Leisure Centre, to give people the chance to hear more about the transfer of the facility from council control.

Paul Sanders, community facilities unit assistant director, said: "This is a very exciting inclusion into the asset transfer programme and we hope key organisations will come forward."

The Community Asset Transfer Programme aims to give people more control over facilities they use on a daily basis.

Ex-mayor reveals MK carnival plan

BY ADAM GRINSELL

adam.grinsell@mk-news.co.uk

'FLAMBOYANCE and colour' could soon be parading along the streets of Milton Keynes as plans for a carnival are about to be discussed.

A meeting is scheduled in two weeks time that could see the formation of plans for a festival through the streets of Central Milton Keynes.

Organised by former mayor and current Linford Wood councillor Alan Richards, it is envisaged that the procession would be 'something that represents all aspects of life in the city'.

He said: "When I was mayor I had several groups coming to me asking about the possibility of something like this, asking 'why don't we have a carnival of flamboyance and colours?'

"I want to kick start that."

He says he doesn't want the plan to take anything away from what parish councils currently do, such as their annual fairs or carnivals, but he doesn't feel there is currently anything for Central Milton Keynes.

So inspired by the Red Bull Home Run last December, in which retail sales were boosted by 79 per cent for that one day, he has sent out around 90 emails to businesses, cultural groups and other potentially-interested parties, inviting them to an initial meeting on Friday, November 9 at The Quadrant:MK.

Plans: Alan Richards (in green) with supporters of his carnival scheme

But mindful of the Love Luton Festival, which lost the town's council almost £400,000, he recognises the need for tight financial controls.

He said: "I believe that if the administration is right and the foundations are right the artistic flair would flow from there.

"But it's got to have the right people, the right foundations and the right financial controls.

"Any carnival would have to show Milton Keynes is a proud place for those who live and work here, and it's got to be attractive to inward investment and tourism, to create jobs for the future.

"If it appears it is not the right time for this to happen I will accept that.

"But as we know, from small acorns great things can grow."

TV star Kevin opens

BY ANNA MAUREMOOTOO

anna.mauremootoo@mk-news.co.uk

TV star Kevin Whately knows only too well the challenge of caring for someone with dementia – and the actor spoke about his late mother's experience of Alzheimer's at the opening of a pioneering housing scheme for sufferers in Milton Keynes.

Kevin is best known for the ITV drama Lewis but he attended the opening of Flowers House in Bletchley Park in his role as Ambassador for the Alzheimer's Society, a position he took up after his mother, Mary, was diagnosed with the disease in her mid-70s.

He said: "Before my mum's diagnosis I had heard of the disease but hadn't known anyone who had suffered from it. I know how devastating dementia is for the person diagnosed and their families."

Kevin lost his mum to Alzheimer's in 2009 at the age of 83 and he explained that making the decision to put her into a care home was one of the worst times of his life.

He said: "About four years ago I had to start looking for a care home for my mum and my heart sank. I had to bring her to London from Northumberland, where she lived. She didn't want to come and it was all fairly undignified."

"The main thing you want to do for someone with dementia is to try and maintain their dignity because they're confused, embarrassed and depressed and they don't want to leave their homes," he added.

Often people diagnosed with dementia are reluctant to give up their independence but Kevin, who lives in Aspley Guise, believes that housing projects like Flowers House make the transition a lot easier.

He said: "Here you're able to cook for yourself, you're not being force-fed meals at a certain time which is key for dementia sufferers because they feel like they're losing control of their life."

Flowers House was brought into fruition through a unique partnership between Milton Keynes Council and Aragon Housing Association.

Named after Tommy Flowers, who helped build the wartime codebreaking Colossus machine, it is a £3.2m scheme which will give 34 people their own apartment and offer secure, round the clock care.

Aileen Evans, Aragon's Managing Director said: "This has been a truly unique partnership, one we were delighted to facilitate."

"We are proud this is going to show how important it is to invest in the provision of housing and support for the ever growing number of people who are living with dementia."

The need for the scheme was identified by the council's Adult Social Care team because of the increasing number of older residents living with dementia.

Kevin added: "I'd really like to congratulate Milton Keynes and Aragon for what I think is a fantastic job. I hope this is a magnet for people working in the industry to visit so it can lead the way for the rest of the country."

For more of the interview with Kevin visit www.mk-news.co.uk.

Going green: Year four pupils are delighted with the wormery

Worms wriggle into their new city home

WORMS might seem like an unlikely gift but one primary school in Milton Keynes is thrilled to have been given some of the wriggly critters.

Patton, who are working on the multi-million pound John Lewis refurbishment, have kindly donated their wormery to Middleton Primary School.

The innovative wormery was used by the Patton on-site team to transform food waste into high quality compost and liquid plant feed.

Parking permits scheme delayed

BY ANNA MAUREMOOTOO

anna.mauremootoo@mk-news.co.uk

A PETITION has put the brakes on plans to introduce parking permits on a city estate.

Milton Keynes Council planned to introduce parking permits on Conniburrow Boulevard from October 29, but after a petition against the idea was signed by nearly 500 residents the scheme has been put on hold.

The plan will now go out to public consultation which residents will be informed about early in the New Year.

John Bint, Cabinet Member for Transport and Highways, explained that it is likely that the idea will be thrown out completely after the consultation period.

He said: "The scheme was going to be introduced because we believed that similar parking schemes in nearby areas would cause people to park in Conniburrow Boulevard but the petition shows that this is a preventative measure that the residents don't want.

"In February we will know if our predictions were right and there is a problem or whether the parking permits are not needed."

The parking permits would have been enforced between 9am-11am and from 2pm-4pm.

Anita Squires, 44, of Conniburrow Boulevard, who set up the petition, said: "I'm thrilled with the result as is everyone who signed the petition.

"When it goes to consultation the council will get the same response as they have this time round."

Memorial honour for 'mastermind'

BY ADAM GRINSELL

adam.grinsell@mk-news.co.uk

A MEMORIAL to the eminent Second World War Bletchley Park codebreaker Dilly Knox has been unveiled in his home village.

Knox was one of the first Enigma experts, after he bought one of the machines in 1925 while it was still being used purely for security purposes.

That was after the First World War during which he was involved in breaking the Zimmermann Telegram which brought the USA into the war.

Fellow Bletchley Park codebreaker Mavis Batey said: "He masterminded the breaking of the German Enigma machine in the early 1930s.

"He bought a machine in 1925 when it was on sale for security for banks and businesses and out of pure curiosity he developed a method for breaking it."

The machine was then first used for military purposes, with different wiring, during the Spanish Civil War in the mid-1930s. The messages were intercepted in the UK, and Mavis said: "Dilly was asked to work on it officially and had no difficulty

Codebreaker: Mavis Batey, who worked with Knox, with his memorial in breaking them."

A memorial to the 'original' codebreaker has been installed in the village of Naphill in Buckinghamshire, where he lived at Courns Wood House for more than two decades.

Knox, described by his code-breaking colleagues as an unsung hero of the Second World War, had planted a tree to commemorate King George VI's coronation in the village, so this new plaque has been installed under the tree.

It was unveiled in a ceremony on Saturday, October 20.

Earlier this year one of the Enigma machines used by Spain during their Civil War was presented to Bletchley Park after being given to GCHQ by its Spanish counterpart.

It has joined Bletchley Park's collection in the Block B Museum – one of the largest collections of Enigma machines on public display anywhere in the world.

Dilly Knox died of cancer in 1943.

School fuels own energy

PUPILS at a Milton Keynes school were in a spin when they switched on their very own wind turbine.

Long Meadow Primary School in Shenley Brook End received £15,000 from the EDF Energy Green Fund towards their renewable energy project to help their school become more sustainable.

Last Wednesday the school officially switched on the 15-metre tall wind turbine and 70-square metres of solar panels and it is hoped that the energy-saving technologies will produce around 20 per cent of the school's current electricity consumption.

David Morley, deputy head-teacher, said: "We are really excited about the official switch on of our renewable energy project and we are thankful to the EDF Energy Green Fund for their donation which has helped us create this low carbon solution."

"Energy efficiency is a vital element of the children's learning and this project is a big step in helping us set an example to the pupils and the community for future generations."

Academy honours dedicated governor with special tribute

BY ANNA MAUREMOTOO

anna.mauremootoo@mk-news.co.uk

A MUCH-loved governor who passed away last year has been honoured with a tribute at her old school.

Jane Williams was a governor at the Premier Academy in Bletchley, formerly known as Eaton Mill Primary School, for more than 36 years. To mark her contribution the Academy has named its new entrance 'The Jane Williams Atrium'.

Mrs Williams sadly passed away on March 17, 2011, at the age of 70.

Her husband Robin, daughter

Hilary and Penelope, and grandson David, attended the official opening of the atrium last Friday and were touched by the gesture.

Mrs Williams's husband, Robin, said: "Jane was dedicated to the wellbeing of children and it's marvellous to know that she had such an impact and will be remembered in such a special way."

During her time at the Academy Mrs Williams worked closely with staff as a governor, vice chairman of the Governing Body and finally as the chairman of the Trust.

She was instrumental in the school's transition into an Academy and its recognition as the first Outstanding Academy in the country.

Warren Harrison, chief executive officer at the Academy, said: "Jane will always be remembered with great affection by all that knew her."

"She is missed by us all at the Academy but is not forgotten and I know that with the erection of this atrium the memory and indeed the name will continue to live on fondly."

A plaque dedicated to Mrs Williams has been put up next to the entrance.

Secondary school gets gold

A SCHOOL in Milton Keynes is to become a Youth Sport Trust Gold Partner School for its commitment to PE and sport.

As a gold partner, Shenley Brook End School will receive additional training and development opportunities and can become involved in national education and sport initiatives.

Chris Holmwood, deputy head teacher, said: "We are absolutely thrilled to become a partner school which recognises our commitment to delivering the best possible experiences for young people through PE and school sport."

"There are a whole range of educational, health and wellbeing benefits from delivering high quality PE and school sport. We see on a regular basis that when sport is delivered well it can transform the lives of a whole range of students."

To become a Youth Sport Trust Partner, Shenley Brook End had to demonstrate how it is delivering high quality school sport and improving the PE experience for young people.

Pupils enjoy an Olympic lesson

Olympic star: Andrew Baggaley encourages children to try table tennis

PUPILS at Portfields School in Newport Pagnell had a very special visitor last week, Olympic table tennis star Andrew Baggaley.

The city player represented

Great Britain at London 2012 and is keen to inspire the next generation of players.

He said: "Hopefully we can get young children to play, it's key to start young."

EDUCATION & TRAINING

'One thing only I know, and that is that I know nothing' said Socrates in around 400BC. If the most learned Greek philosopher of all time felt like that it makes you wonder what hope there is for the rest of us!

But take heart from Albert Einstein: "The important thing" he said, "is not to stop questioning."

Rumour has it that Albert Einstein's brain was remarkable for its unremarkable size and shape. It looked much like every other human brain. Of course, there must have been something going on in there that, generally speaking, doesn't tax the grey matter of other, less awesomely brilliant anthropoids. But from our very first moments on this earth to our very last breath we all have the capacity to learn. And in the same way that physical exercise keeps our body in shape so mental stimulation improves brain function and protects against cognitive decline.

So, even though we may not manage to unravel the mysteries of the universe or find a cure for cancer we can all explore our potential for success and satisfy our thirst for knowledge through making the most of the training and education opportunities around us.

PLAYGROUND GAMES

ALL work and no play makes Jack a dull boy – and it doesn't do much for Jill either.

Play is a serious business. It's vital to the development of every child. It allows children to work out not only their emotions but, more fundamentally, who they are. But the opportunity to run along outside and play in the street is a diminishing one because anxious parents are afraid for the safety of their children.

Recent figures from Play England, an agency dedicated to encouraging play provision, showed that while 71% of parents had played outside their homes, only 21% of their children were allowed that independence. And though you might not want your kids to play on a World War 2 bomb site like their grandparents did, there's nothing like using their imagination to create rich and fantastical games as they run around playing with other children.

That is one reason why playtime at school is so important. It's still a great social occasion and while playground games may have regional variations there are often similarities between the basic activities which are handed down from generation to generation; essentially the same game may appear with entirely different names in different places.

GETTING OFF TO A GOOD START

YOU don't need to be told how much of a big deal choosing a school for your child is.

It's probably been on your mind since your child was born. While reputation plays a big part, take a look around the schools in the local area. Take advantage of open days or, if you prefer, organise an appointment and have an individual tour with a senior member of staff. School is not only a place of learning in terms of academia, but also in the social sense. School is an important part of your child's life, as they learn to mix with their peers and to make friends. Ask about the facilities such as after school care.

Speaking to the local authority helps too. League tables and exam results can give you a good reflection of the performance of a school. Asking children who already go to a particular school is a good way to get a grasp of what pupils think. It is surprising how unbiased and informative children can be.

Observe how teachers react with their pupils and if you can, don't hesitate to speak to parents who are picking their children up at the end of the day. If you explain your reasoning for asking they will be more likely to help, as they too will have been in the same situation.

Lastly, and arguably most importantly, see how your child feels about the school. Take on board their comments and opinions. If they respond positively, they are more likely to have a positive experience.

THE enchanting tale How to Catch a Star is being brought to life on stage by theatre company Blunderbus.
Youngsters can follow a little boy on his journey through land, sea and rock-eting through the sky, as he searches for a star friend in the stage adaptation of Oliver Jeffers' bestselling children's book at Stantonbury Campus Theatre. Bill Davies, who adapted the book, said "How to Catch A Star is quite an epic adventure and we travel with the boy as he visits many bewitching different landscapes."
"We've tried to recreate this wonderful book in a magical and enchanting way, using music, puppets, incredible actors and the Blunderbus songs."
How to Catch a Star is at Stantonbury Campus Theatre on November 2. Tickets cost £8 for adults, £5.50 for children and £23.00 for families. Available from 01908 324422.

funnyman

A FUNNY man from Canada will be treading the boards at The Cannon in Newport Pagnell on Sunday.
Jason Rouse describes himself as a 'renegade touring stand-up' and pledges to leave 'middle of the road' comedy for dead.
Rouse has appeared across the world and is known to be a bit of an oddball, so expect some strange antics which may challenge your sense of decency.
He has also been dubbed as a 'jester from hell' and as someone who performs on 'international stages with all of the power of a derailed comedy freight train.'
This will be a very different comedy performance but that may mean it is worth seeing.
"I want people leaving, shaking their heads saying, 'That's the strangest thing I've ever seen'," Rouse once said.
Tickets are £4 for a 7pm start, and are available at www.wegot-tickets.com/event/185501.

ANDY Fairweather Low and The Low Riders bring their eclectic musical stylings to The Stables.
Andy first came to prominence as lead singer in Amen Corner who clocked up hit after hit during the sixties with Bend Me Shape Me, Hello Suzy, (If Paradise is) Half As Nice and more.

The singer/songwriter has worked with a number of musical greats. They include Eric Clapton, George Harrison, Bob Dylan, Jimi Hendrix, Elton John, Roger Waters, Dave Gilmour, The Who, Jimmy Page, Ringo Starr, Mary J. Blige, Van Morrison, Bill Wyman, to name but a few.

In May 2008 Andy began touring the UK with The Low Riders – Paul Beavis, Dave Bronze and Richard Dunn.
Those of you who are only familiar with Andy's early work and solo hits such as Wide Eyed And Legless, are in for a treat – his new show includes songs from all aspects of his career including his 2006 release Sweet Soulful Music.

avantgardening

MK Gallery hosts Avant Gardening tomorrow – a group of artists and curators who are all experienced practitioners of 'socially-engaged collaborative arts'.

The group will be exploring popular culture and in particular the messages shown in Pulp Fiction and other B Movies.

Illustrated with short films, mind-bending film clips and an eclectic soundtrack of grooves and retro rock, the group explore the fringes of pop culture and the move towards experimentation. Its gets underway at 6.30pm and is completely free.

Meanwhile, this week's Friday Night Film is Jim Jarmusch's independent effort Broken Flowers.

It tells the story of a man who receives an anonymous letter revealing a long lost son may be trying to find him.

The film starts at 6.30pm and tickets are £5 or £3 for concessions.

There's a free drink for advanced bookers on 01908 676 900.

Never had so desperate a group of human beings banded together

fightnight

WWE 13, the latest in a long line of wrestling games, is released for the Playstation 3, Xbox360 and Wii this week.

All of your favourite wrestlers are here, from past and present, and if World Wrestling Entertainment is your bag, then you will quickly become hooked.

The game focuses on wrestling's so called 'Attitude Era' of the late 1990s, when the TV shows being broadcast were more risky and violent than they perhaps are these days.

That was the time of WWE's long-running battle with huge rival World Championship Wrestling (WCW) and for many people that was when the whole business was at its most entertaining.

It's one for fans who will find plenty to enjoy, but if you are not infatuated with men fighting in lycra then you should probably steer clear. What takes place in the ring is, after all, pure theatre.

THIS week, Colin Savage, landscape officer at The Parks Trust talks bats

WORKING for The Parks Trust and being a wildlife lover go hand in hand, but bats are definitely one of my biggest passions.

I've been interested in bats since I was eight. I became a licensed bat handler for many years and it was a privilege to be able to get hands on with these incredibly fascinating and mysterious creatures.

In the UK we have about 17 different varieties – in Milton Keynes you're likely to see nine or ten of them. These include Pipistrelles, Daubentons, Noctules, Natterers, Whiskered, Barbastelles and Brown Long Eareds.

Summer is the best time to spot bats, when from dusk they will be flying around gathering insects.

One of the best places to see them in MK is Linford Manor Park. As well as the Common Pipistrelle and Brown Long Eared Bats, our largest species, the Noctule, can also be seen here often flying high over the treetops.

Small bats flying low over the canal are likely to be Daubenton's bats which roost under some of the bridges in Great Linford. Woodland rides are also great bat habitats so a visit to our ancient woodlands at Shenley, Howe Park or Linford would be worthwhile.

You can still see bats at this time of year when they are busy mating and building up their fat reserves in preparation for the winter. During the colder months bats go into torpor, a kind of semi-hibernation so it's really important for them to get as much food as possible now.

The trust's conservation work includes conducting bat surveys in all our woodlands to identify what species we have; we also have bat boxes in different locations and ensure that our landscaping includes wildflowers to attract the insects that bats feed on.

Look out for information on bats and bat-related events on www.theparkstrust.com.

silenthill

IT'S the time of year when films designed to frighten the life out of you start to appear at the cinema.

Yes, Halloween wouldn't be Halloween without movies that hope to send you to a nightmare-filled night of sleep.

Horror is not a genre that everybody can get on with, but every now and then it's nice to sit down with something scary to see how long you last.

Silent Hill: Revelation 3D is based on the computer game series and follows Heather and her father, who are on the run from a dangerous, unknown force.

Haunted by tortured dreams, Heather quickly realises that she isn't who she thinks she is and that she is danger of being trapped in a horrendous, demonic world.

The sole aim of the film is to scare so the only question that really remains is thus: are you brave enough to watch?

rockriffs

ALTERNATIVE rock band Freeze the Atlantic are preparing to wow music lovers in Milton Keynes as they head to The Craufurd Arms.

The band formed in 2008 and was started by Andy Gilmour from Hundred Reasons with Jon Pearce and Guy Davis, from Reuben. In 2010 bassist Sean Shreeve of Spectrum 7 joined the line-up.

Naming Weezer, Smashing Pumpkins and Pearl Jam among their influences, the band have experienced great success with their debut album 'Speakeasy'.

The album was recorded and produced entirely by the band and features a string of guest vocalists including Colin Doran of Hundred Reasons.

Gig-goers should get ready for some huge riffs when the four-piece play The Craufurd Arms on November 3 from 7.30pm. Tickets cost £5 from www.thecraufurdarms.com.

ozzyvoices

AUSTRALIA'S premier choir is coming to Wolverton.

They will perform choral classics alongside indigenous-Australian inspired music.

From 8pm, tickets £15, £12 concessions, £6 school pupils. Available on the door or from 020 3286 6786.

Poole hopes Lightning does not strike twice

NICK Poole's Milton Keynes Lightning face another double header this weekend hoping they fare better than they did in last week's double header.

Lightning laboured to a 1-0 win in a combustible match with Sheffield Steeldogs and then followed that up with a surprise defeat to Telford Tigers. The 3-0 loss to the Tigers was their sixth defeat in 12 games and came at a heavy price.

Adam Calder is likely to miss a fair chunk of the season after being sustaining with a fractured hip. The Canadian important underwent surgery in hospital on Sunday night and no timescale has been given on his return.

"The thoughts of everyone at the Lightning are with Adam and his family, and we know all of our fans and those of other teams will join us in wishing him the very best for a full and speedy recovery," read a club statement.

"We would especially like to thank the staff at Telford ice rink, Tom Watkins and also the hospital for all their help and consideration."

The loss of Calder gives Poole a further headache ahead of the trip to Swindon on Saturday before the return game at Planet Ice Milton Keynes on Sunday, 5.30pm. He could also be without defenceman Dan Harris who suffered a head injury two weeks ago.

Swindon having lost six of their games so far but Poole will not be taking Ryan Aldridge's side lightly.

"They're a team who can score goals, and they've got two very potent lines," Poole told the club's newly-launched media channel Lightning.

"We'll have to play with the puck at their end, if we go back and forth with them we'll get punished.

"It'll be a tough weekend; Aaron Nell and their two new imports look pretty dangerous up front, so we know we'll have to be really tight at the back."

Lightning enjoyed the better of the meetings last season, losing just once in three games at the Thunderdome and beating the Wildcats twice on their own ice.

The Wildcats finished ten points behind Lightning last season and they suffered a double blow to their attacking game when they lost Czech forwards Michal Pinc and Jaroslav Cesky to France and Telford respectively.

But they filled the void by signing another Czech, Michal Kapicka, from French side the Mulhouse Scorpions, and a Finn, Matias Perkkio, from Finnish club Sport.

Both are averaging around a point per game and have formed an offensive triumvirate with Jonas Hoog, meaning the Wildcats have just one import player in defence, Jan Melichar.

"Unless you've got a British player who can score a lot of goals, you have to go with three forward imports," said Aldridge who is concentrating on bench coaching the team this season following the departure of assistant Peter Russell to the Okanagan Academy.

"We've also got British players who can score a lot of goals."

Jamie Hayes and Chris Jones came into that category after they made the step up to EPL hockey after impressing last year with Cardiff Devils. Aaron Nell, last season's top scorer, is the captain and provides the creative hub for the Wildcats.

Dean Bowditch faces a fitness test ahead of the FA Cup game on Friday night

Bowditch: We want to go on an FA Cup run

BY MARC BAZELEY

marc.bazeley@lsnmedia.co.uk

DEAN Bowditch is eyeing another FA Cup run for MK Dons, but is wary that Friday night's non-league opponents Cambridge City will be aiming to cause an upset in their first round encounter.

Karl Robinson's men made it to the third round of last season's competition, with Bowditch memorably scoring the opener in the home tie against Premier League side QPR.

Heidar Helguson's late equaliser ensured that game went to a replay at Loftus Road, which the Dons lost 1-0, and the forward now wants to make more FA Cup memories for himself and the club.

"We've got some good memories from the Cup and it's something that all of the players look forward to," said Bowditch.

"It was disappointing that it wasn't us who got through and drew Chelsea, but I remember scoring and the great atmosphere in the stadium.

"It seemed like it was set up for us to go through.

"That has now given us the drive to go on and do more in the Cup.

"We want to go on another run. Friday's game is going to be on TV and there will probably be a big crowd getting behind them. We have got to make sure that we are professional and don't take anything for granted.

"I think the problem is that sometimes teams and players can get complacent."

Evo-Stik Southern League Premier Division side Cambridge reached this stage of the FA Cup after beating AFC Totton 3-2 in the fourth qualifying round.

Former England star Chris Waddle says Cambridge may feel like it is a good time to face Robinson's men.

"Cambridge City's players are genuine part-time footballers and they will play at 100mph for the first half and hour," he said.

"They have nothing to lose and the only way Dons can get out of it without anyone moaning is if they win.

"Dons just have to play their game and I'm sure there will be an opportunity to play some football.

"It's certainly an interesting draw."

Waddle, an ESPN co-commentator speaking ahead of the channel's televised coverage of the cup tie on Friday, said that the game could give Dons the boost of confidence needed to string a run of results together.

"Every side has a dry spell of five or six games when you just seem to come off the rails," Waddle said.

"But the good teams find a way to come back and MK Dons are in that category."

Bowditch, whose brother Ben spent the 2007-08 season playing for the Lilywhites, is waiting to see whether or not he will be passed fit to feature in the match at Milton Road.

He has been sidelined for the Dons' last three League One matches and the 26-year-old now cannot wait to get back out onto the pitch.

Bowditch said: "Being injured is a player's worst nightmare. People outside of the game might say different, but when you're injured you miss playing so much.

"You even miss training because you see the lads all together while you're on the edge of the pitch doing your running and fitness work.

"All of my rehab has been progressing well since I got the injury.

"There is no timescale so I've just got to wait."

MK Dons
assistant boss
MICK HARFORD
writes exclusively for MK News
every week

FOR certain people the FA Cup has lost its magic, but that's not the case for me.

The competition has been diluted by certain sections of the footballing community but I think it is one of the greatest trophies in the world.

I was fortunate enough to play in many great FA Cup games and the competition will always bring back memories for me from down the years.

It really is a magnificent competition and something I look forward to every year. It's a competition that I love and one that I will back all the way.

In my career I played in three semi-finals but unfortunately we lost them all and I never made it to the final.

Dons have drawn Cambridge City and to be honest I don't have much experience of visiting non-league clubs as when my teams came in, it was usually already the third round.

It is more or less a local derby and will be shown on ESPN on Friday night.

We were all hoping it would get on TV to give Cambridge a bit of exposure.

Obviously it's a very small club against what you'd call a big team in the competition at this stage.

I'm quite excited about the tie, as with no disrespect to Cambridge, it gives us a great opportunity to get to the next round.

But whoever you play in the FA Cup, you have to approach it in the right manner and you've got to be professional about it.

We will give Cambridge City the utmost respect, as we would whoever we came up against.

Before we play them we will have them watched so that we know their strengths and weaknesses.

It's a game that we will be taking very, very seriously and that means we will be putting a strong team out.

HOCKEY ROUND UP

Samurai put to the sword by Tring

MK Samurai lost their 100 per cent record to Tring seconds on Saturday.

Poor finishing by MK and an opportunistic goal from the Tring midfield secured all three points for the home team.

MK fourths felt they should have returned from West Hampstead's sixth team with all three points but had to settle for a 1-1 draw.

West Hampstead drew first blood after overloading the left side of the pitch and having two players free on the back post with only one MK player between them.

MK reorganised and drew level when Justin exchanged passes with Webby, his quick shot beating the keeper.

A combination of end-to-end hockey, a lack of fitness and questionable umpiring resulted in the game slowing down with longer, lazier passes being made by both teams. MK were forced to dig deep late on when Nick Turner was yellow carded after deliberately kicking the ball away in a spectacular style after a player got the better of him.

MK have now managed four out of six away points available which has put them fourth in the league. They entertain third-place Marlow this weekend, a game which will act as a barometer of whether MK have what it takes to compete against the top teams in the league.

MK fifths also recorded a 1-1 draw, away at Tring thirds. Merrick Hartslef gave MK a 1-0 lead at half time but Dave Williams was finally beaten in the second half when he fully committed himself and was unable to get back for the rebound which caught the MK defence flat footed.

The MK ladies slipped one place to fourth after losing 3-1 to league leaders PHC Chiswick Ladies.

Milton Keynes began the game confidently, playing with pace and creating a number of chances and putting the Chiswick defence under pressure early on. Coach Sue Sutton would have been pleased with at half time with the match scoreless but knew her side would come under some pressure in the second half. And so it proved as, after three minutes, Chiswick got their noses in front.

Not fazed by this MK continued to play some fine linking hockey from defence to attack, with player of the match Helen Cooke, Max McMenamin and Lou Reynolds linking well.

Despite creating a number of attacking chances, MK could not find a way through the Chiswick defence and it was not long before the home side found themselves two goals down.

With less than ten minutes remaining in the game, MK gave themselves a lifeline when Sophie Reynolds fired the ball across the circle for sister Lou Reynolds to deflect the ball home from close range.

But Chiswick put the points out of reach of the MK side by grabbing a late third goal from a penalty corner.

Alex Dunn claimed the player-of-the-match honours for the seconds who lost 3-0 to Kidlington, but the thirds suffered an even heavier defeat, going down 4-0 to their counterparts from Oxford Hawks.

MK knew they were always going to face a tough task against the team placed second in the league and they set themselves up with damage limitation in mind. Holly Captainino and Lauren Hooton helped thwart the Hawks and kept the score to just two at the break.

Charlotte Cox, Emily Watkins and Emma Hooton pushed the Hawks back for a while in the second half, but it failed to prevent the Hawks from doubling their advantage.

TABLE TENNIS

Baggaley enjoys life in Bundesliga

Andrew Baggaley, right, playing doubles with Liam Pitchford at London 2012

FOR most people the Bundesliga conjures up images of football giants such as Bayern Munich and not a top quality club table tennis competition, but that is the reality for pro player Andrew Baggaley.

The Milton Keynes-based Olympian has been battling it out in the Tischtennis Bundesliga – the top flight for the sport in Germany and the second best division in the world behind the Chinese Super League.

Baggaley, 29, turns out for SV Pluderhausen after joining the club in June as a member of a four-man squad.

It has been quite an experience for him as the sport has much more of a following in Germany, with crowds sometimes breaking the 1,000 barrier.

"Fans go crazy for every point," Baggaley said. "It's a great atmosphere and everything is done so professionally, there's even press conferences before the games."

Pluderhausen, based in the town of the same name in the south of the country, are currently mid-table after a mixed bag of results but Baggaley, who has also played for clubs in Belgium, Spain and France, insists that they can hold their own in a tough environment.

Opposition includes sides such as TTF Liebherr Ochsenhausen, Zugbrücke Grenzau and Werder Bremen – a name football fans will be familiar with.

"We're holding our own," Baggaley said.

"It's the toughest league I've played in as there's nowhere to hide. In other leagues if you weren't playing so well you could perhaps find your way in but here you are always pushed."

A big tournament on the horizon for Pluderhausen is the German Cup, a prestigious straight knock-out tournament played to a finish at Stuttgart's Porsche Arena on December 29.

"Pluderhausen have a really good history of doing well in the tournament, and a lot can happen in a cup," Baggaley said. "It's a massive hall and there are massive crowds."

It is not all club action for Baggaley. He has European Championship qualifiers with England and individual tournaments to look forward to.

This means a lot of travelling but, in Germany, there is a familiar face as brother Stephen is a Pluderhausen coach.

"It's quite prestigious to coach at a First Division Bundesliga Club," Stephen said.

WATER POLO

CMKSC's newly-formed team lost narrowly away to Cambridge in the East Midland League last week.

Despite two early goals by Sam Bryant, CMK were unable to maintain the lead and slipped to 4-2 down at the end of the first quarter. However outstanding play by Martin Hackett and Zoltan Vanyi meant that Milton Keynes matched Cambridge for the remainder of the game, eventually losing narrowly 12-10.

ATHLETICS

THE inaugural Daventry 10 mile road race saw Matthew Clarke (M35) first home for Milton Keynes Athletic Club in fifth place.

He finished in 58 minutes and 39 seconds, while Ian Pheasey (M35) was home shortly after in 29th in 1.06:47. Alex Knowles (F45) was the third female finisher and first veteran in 1.08:27.

A little further afield in Amsterdam in the full Marathon, Adrian Maidment crossed the line in 3.20:55 while Terry Down was a just a bit behind in 3.22:16. In the Half Marathon, Jacqui Maycock (F50) recorded a time of 2.35:48 while, in West Walton, Terry Down (M55) clocked 78.29s for the Fenland 10 mile race.

There was good news for Greg Rutherford while he recovers for his recent operation as he was voted runner up to Mo Farah as the British Athletics Writers' Association's Male Athlete of the Year.

GYMNASTICS

MILTON Keynes enjoyed success in a hat-trick of recent competitions.

At the Autumn in-house competition, Charlotte Anderson-Priddle opened the competition with her award winning floor routine while Harvey Dee, aged 3, won a gold for bench.

The mens artistic squad travelled down to Southampton for the regional championships and returned with a raft of medals. Jacob Nichols Cook came second on floor, pommel and vault, finishing fourth.

Lewis Dean finished first on pommel, rings, vault, parallel bars, high bar, winning silver overall.

Gregory Beckley came third on pommel and Edward Dean was first on parallel bar and high bar, claiming gold overall. Leo Zervos came first on every piece to take gold overall while there were seconds for Jacob Taylor (floor, pommel, rings) and Harry Saxon (floor, vault, high bar).

The Bucks floor and vault competition was hosted by MK on Sunday – and the hosts enjoyed an extremely successful day.

Sisters Millie and Chloe Doolan both won gold – as did Claire White. Zoe Taylor Ridgeway won silver, there was bronze for Jasmine Brown while Molly Casey, Rae Lorisca, Cecilia Adamou and Eustace Kunaka were also among the medals.

RUGBY UNION

Powell stars amid yellow fever

MILTON Keynes host Aylesbury on Saturday looking for their fifth straight league win in the South West Division.

They will, however, have to play with greater discipline than they did in the 38-5 win over Alchester on Saturday. MK had three players sin-binned in quick succession and, at one stage, were down to 12 men. John Manley, Lewis Barnett and Dan Rolfe were the three players to see yellow.

The cards took the gloss of a fine performance from Phil Powell who scored a try after just three minutes and finished the match with 23 points, nine of which were scored with three impeccably struck penalties in extremely blustering condition.

Arran McConnell rounded off a series of forward drives with a score just before half time to leave MK in complete control at the break, 33 unanswered points in front.

MK had to battle the slope and the worst of the weather in the second period, yet their tactics proved spot on when more tight play by the forwards resulted in a crash over try by Darren Brodrick.

With nothing to lose, Alchester game then took the game to MK but only succeeded in finding a way through for an unconverted try when the home side were reduced to 12 men.

Tries from James, Small, Belcher and Hoyles plus nine points from the boot of Livesy gave Olney the bonus-point win against Thatcham.

James, the full back, got the scoring underway from a quickly-taken penalty and then Olney made light of the sin-binning of lock Harrison to score a 50m breakaway try from Small.

Olney suffered a blow when Small left the field with an ankle problem and the game was in the balance at 15-10. But Belcher pulled Olney clear with a try and then Livesy had a hand in yet another try when Hoyles scored just outside the posts.

Livesy converted to put Olney 29-12 ahead and that is how the score remained.

Dons to remain on the attack

MARC BAZELEY

marc.bazeley@bismmedia.co.uk

DEAN Bowditch expects MK Dons' boss Karl Robinson to continue with the trademark brand of attacking football that has made him one of the most sought-after managers in the English game.

The Dons roared back to winning ways on Saturday with a 3-0 win at League One strugglers Scunthorpe United, having lost their previous two matches. They are two points off the play-off places.

Robinson's free-flowing approach has proved successful for him since taking over at stadium:mk in 2010. He guided the Dons to the play-offs in the past two seasons despite being on a limited budget.

As a result, the 32-year-old has constantly been linked with a move to higher level clubs, with the latest speculation putting him in the frame for the vacant post at Championship high-fliers Crystal Palace.

Bowditch revealed that Robinson has stuck to his attacking principles despite the recent lean spell.

"There wasn't much that he did differently," Bowditch said. "He still kept training focussed around passing and attacking, and that's not going to change. We're all footballers here and as players we want to be able to be as attacking as possible."

Palace are thought to want Robinson to replace Dougie Freedman, who moved from Selhurst Park to Bolton Wanderers last week, but the compensation on the three-year contract extension that Robinson signed last December may prohibit financially-prudent Palace from moving for him.

Former England international Chris Waddle is not surprised Robinson is being linked with bigger jobs.

"Karl has built up a good reputation," Waddle said. "He always has good people around him, such as John Gorman last year and Mick Harford this season, and he attracts good players."

"When you think of his team you think of attractive football."

Cup on Friday for a game that is being televised live on ESPN.

The Cambridge chairman believes the televised FA Cup first-round tie at home to Milton Keynes Dons could provide his club with a six-figure windfall.

ESPN announced last week that they will provide live coverage of the tie, paying both City and Dons a broadcast fee of £63,000 each.

"It's great news," said City club chairman Kevin Satchell told the Cambridge News. "The finances make a huge difference to a club like ours. I would think that £100,000 is not far off the revenue we could make for the game."

Dons' attention then turns to Leyton Orient at home in League One on Tuesday night as the Dons step up their promotion push.

"There is still a long way to go and we know we are not out of it, but it's also true that the sides that are up there at the moment haven't been promoted yet," Bowditch said.

One of our success stories...

Who: Leslie Carey, 39

Where: The Slimline Clinic Nuneaton

When: 6 Weeks, June 2011

What Happened: Leslie had Ultrasonic Liposuction on her stomach and inner thigh but only lost $\frac{3}{4}$ inch after 1st visit. She then lost 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ inches after her 2nd visit, before losing 16 inches in total over the course of her therapy.

How: We focussed Ultrasonic Liposuction on Leslie's inner thigh and stomach once a week (1 session on each area) for 6 weeks. After her 1st session Leslie ate take away food on 4 of the evenings, as well as drinking several pints of beer most nights. This resulted in slow progress. However, after only losing $\frac{3}{4}$ inch in week 1, Leslie decided to drink a little more moderately, ate more balanced meals and as a result she then lost 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ inches between her 2nd & 3rd treatments. Leslie then resolved to adjust her lifestyle, she started eating & drinking in moderation, while making an effort to be more active generally. Leslie went on to lose 16 inches in total over her course which took in 12 sessions each on her stomach & inner thighs.

Why was Ultrasonic Liposuction Needed: Leslie has a demanding job as a director of an engineering firm, this lead to Leslie having a poor diet of take away food & beer, with little activity in her daily life due to a lack of time. Leslie arrived for her 1st session as a size 16, standing at 5' 6" tall

Where are they now: After achieving her target size and shape Leslie had lost 16 inches from her stomach and inner thigh. After completing her course and armed with her improved lifestyle and body shape Leslie felt inspired to take up Exercise! She began walking 3 evenings a week and therefore needed no more sessions to maintain her new size and shape!

The science behind losing Inches & feeling great!

Non-Surgical Ultrasonic Liposuction from The Slimline Clinic makes losing inches easy, especially from stubborn fatty areas like your belly, hips, arms and legs. Better still, it's fast, 100% pain free and can allow you to reach your ideal size in as few as 12 sessions.

Good vibrations

The treatment works using ultrasonic technology similar to that used in ultrasound scanning machines. The frequency of the sound wave targets fat cells, causing them to turn into a liquefied state. This liquid fat then drains away via the body's lymphatic system over the next 72 hours leaving treated areas with a flatter and firmer appearance.

The difference between The Slimline Clinic's Non-Surgical Ultrasonic Liposuction and surgical ultrasonic liposuction is we allow the body to naturally filter the liquid fat instead of making incisions in the patient and using a tool to suck the fat out which can cause pain, bruising and scars.

100% pain free

Our treatments are 100% pain free – in fact you will only feel a pleasant warming sensation as the ultrasound gets to work on your unwanted fat cells.
